

U. N. TACKLES BERLIN CASE TODAY

GOP "Big Guns" To Begin Firing Over Networks

Vandenberg Speaks
Tonight; President,
Dewey Resting Up

(By The Associated Press)
Opening the final month of the presidential campaign, the Republicans announced today that their biggest guns will begin firing at intervals over nationwide radio networks.

The heads of the GOP ticket,
Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Sen.
Earl Warren, will be joined by House and Senate leaders in the broadcasts making use of "hot" facilities of various networks. The opening will be Sen. Arthur Vandenberg's speech tonight.

The Democrats haven't announced any comparable radio plans. Their champion, President Truman, took a three-day breather before resuming on Wednesday his tireless day and night campaign, this time into four populous eastern states.
He showed no evidence of fatigue from his 19-state grind of the last 16 days across the continent.

The Dewey campaign special moved homeward to Albany, N. Y., yesterday after covering much of the territory as Mr. Truman's train, but without the strenuous all-hours campaigning schedule.
The Republican National Committee announced these major network addresses:

Vandenberg Speaks Tonight
Tonight, Michigan's Sen. Vandenberg, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, speaking from Washington over the CBS network, 8-8:30 p. m. EST. This is expected to be an important GOP foreign policy document.

Wednesday, Gov. Warren, of California, speaking from Chicago over CBS, at a midwestern rally from the amphitheater of the Chicago EST under auspices of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs, meeting in St. Paul.

Monday, Oct. 11, Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, speaking from Nashville, Tenn., at 10-10:30 p. m. EST over the ABC network.

Wednesday, Oct. 13, Rep. Charles A. Halleck, of Indiana, GOP leader in the House, speaking from Mt. Vernon, Ill., over ABC for the national EST under auspices of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs, meeting in St. Paul.

Friday, Oct. 15, Gov. Dewey speaking from St. Paul, Minn., over the ABC network at 9-10 p. m. EST under auspices of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs, meeting in St. Paul.

Wednesday, Oct. 20, Rep. Joseph Martin, of Massachusetts, Speaker of the House, appearing at Beckley, W. Va., at 8-8:30 p. m. EST over the MBS system, under auspices of the GOP Congressional Committee.

Dewey Plans Brief Rest
Dewey is expected to remain a few days at Albany before starting out again, probably to the Midwest. The radio schedule showed he will be in the State of Minnesota where a spectacular battle for the Senate is being waged between the incumbent, Joseph E. Ball, Republican, and Hubert Humphrey, Democrat. Dewey has been giving much attention to the struggle for Senate control.

He put in a vigorous day Saturday in Kansas and Missouri. He spoke to an estimated nearly 60,000 persons in eight appearances. He promised (1) a "straight, consistent" foreign policy, (2) an administration which "won't go around the country blackguarding Congress." (Continued on Page 9, Col. 5)

$250,000 Fire Sweeps

Maine Amusement Park

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., Oct. 3 (AP)—A roller coaster, three concession buildings and two cottages were destroyed in a spectacular fire at this resort's amusement center today.

The Palace, one of New England's largest dance halls, and several other buildings were damaged. Selectmen Herman S. Gerrish and Fred L. Luce estimated the loss at $250,000.

It was the worst blaze in this ocean playground for more than a quarter century.

Animals Taken To Special Church Service In England

HEREFORD, Eng., Oct. 3 (AP)—The animals came to church here today, and they sat very solemnly as they heard a Church of England clergyman say there is a very good chance they will go to heaven. They will have to be good, of course.

The extraordinary occasion for such piety in the animal kingdom was a special service at the Holy Trinity Church on the eve of the Feast of St. Francis, the patron saint of the animals.

Children of the community were invited to bring their pets. So, well behaved and decorous among the worshippers were:

Argument Over Comic Book Ends In Youth's Death

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 3 (AP)—Lawrence County Coroner Charles Allen reported a six-year-old boy this morning shot and killed his brother, 10, in an argument over a comic book.

The victim was George Lee Nail, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nail, Clifton Flats, a New Castle suburb. He was shot in the head with a 12-gauge shotgun and died at New Castle Hospital at 10 a. m., less than three hours later.

Allen identified the younger brother as Samuel Thomas Nail. He said the argument arose from George's wish to trade the comic book with a neighbor boy, and Samuel's protests that he had not yet seen the book.

High Court Opens New Term Today; Labor Cases Set

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Supreme Court tomorrow opens a new term in which it has agreed to rule whether states may prohibit union closed shops.

That issue highlights probably the longest list of labor cases ever faced by the nine justices upon their return from summer vacations. The list includes these legal puzzles:

May an employer give "merit raises" without first bargaining with a union? (A lower court says he may not.)

May an employer give pay increases for the purpose of holding his position in a highly competitive labor market without first notifying union officials? (A lower court says he may.)

Rail Injunction Question
Do the Taft-Hartley Act and the Railway Labor Act void a permanent injunction issued by the United States District Court here last July against a threatened nationwide railroad strike?

May unions require employers to bargain with them about pensions? (A lower court says they may.)

What about constitutionality of the section of the Taft-Hartley Act which requires union officials to swear that they are not Communists? (A lower court says it is constitutional.)

The pension and Communist oath questions have not been placed before the court for its opinion sessions—but they are expected to be filed shortly—in plenty of time for decision in the new term.

AFL Took Issue To Court
AFL unions took to the Supreme Court attacks on validity of the state bans on closed shops. (In closed shops, only union members may be hired.) The tribunal last consented to rule on bans contained in the Arizona and Nebraska constitutions and in an act passed by the North Carolina Legislature.

An AFL union also has asked the court to include a ruling on a similar closed shop law passed recently by the Tennessee Legislature.

The court will announce soon whether it will take on the Tennessee case also.

The Taft-Hartley Act's anti-closed shop section is not directly involved in the state cases. But the decisions in the state cases may have an important bearing on a test of the federal law section which is almost certain to reach the high court sooner or later.

Fred Allen Declares War
On Radio "Give-Aways"

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—Radio comedian Fred Allen declared war tonight on what he called "give-away programs that are ruining incentive for individual talent in radio."

At the outset of his Sunday night program over the National Broadcasting Company network, Allen announced that he was bonding any radio listener tuned in to his show against the loss of a prize on any give-away program.

Allen said "there are so many programs giving things away that people have stopped tuning in to comedians."

The 20 hours, brushed sleek for the occasion, were sized up by the head usher, who came to the doleful decision that they were too big for the pews. So they had to wait outside.

Rev. L. J. B. Snell then told of the life of St. Francis and the work of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

"Animals and birds are a part of God's creation," he told the beaming children, "and there is nothing contrary to our Christian religion in the belief that our pets will live hereafter."

"There are animals and birds in heaven as well as human beings and angels."

HULL IS 77—Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, accompanied by Mrs. Hull, observes his 77th birthday by going for an automobile ride in Washington. He has resided at the Bethesda Naval Hospital most of the time since his retirement from the State Department in 1944.

Grain Export Program Blamed For High Prices

Democrats Criticize
House Group Report;
Speculators Cleared

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—A congressional subcommittee said today it has no evidence that speculators have cashed in on information "leaks" about government grain-buying plans.

However, the House group, headed by Rep. August H. Andresen (R-Minn.), reported that lard dealers "realized substantial profits" on advance information passed out by a Commerce Department employee in September, 1947.

The report was one outgrowth of House and Senate charges that commodity speculators profited handsomely from inside information.

The majority report, signed by the subcommittee's four Republican members, said government grain purchases of the past two years have been primarily responsible for high grain prices, and to a large extent for rising food prices generally.

Majority Opinions Attacked
A sharply-worded minority report, signed by the three Democratic members, called the majority's opinions "an indirect attack upon the report added."

"We have heard much of the bipartisan nature of our foreign policy, and we had assumed that this was an accepted fact," said the Democrats, headed by Rep. McCormack, of Massachusetts, "House minority whip."

"It comes as a shock, therefore, to learn that the committee majority has chosen to bring the effectuation of this policy into question."

The report, the third made by the subcommittee, covered government grain transactions from July 1, 1946, to June 30, 1948.

U. S. Exports Major Factor
The nearly 1,200,000 bushels of grain exported by the United States during this period "was the controlling factor which caused scarcity and higher prices for grains and feed for livestock," the report said.

The large exports, it added, also led to decreased supplies of beef, pork, poultry, and dairy products.

Total food exports, the report said, were approximately 38,200 tons for the two years, plus about 2,400,000 tons of such products as cotton and tobacco. The value of all exports was about $7,199,604,000, the report added.

The government "largely dominated the market price of grain" the committee said.

Russia's Shift On Atom
Little Or No Concession

PARIS, Oct. 3 (AP)—Key western delegates are pretty well agreed today that Russia's sudden shift on the atom, failed to advance perceptibly the prospects for agreement on international atomic controls.

The shadow of the veto still covers the whole problem, as it has from the beginning.

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's proposal yesterday that atomic controls and atom bomb prohibitions come into being at the same time represented no switch at all in the Russian attitude toward the Baruch plan for controls and inspection.

It represented, rather, a change in timing. Up to now, the Russians have stood firmly for outlawing the bomb first and then setting up controls. The United States, backed by other Western Powers, has stood just as firmly for controls first.

Sternist Paper Reappears
TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Stern Gannet, a newspaper Ma'ar published posted on the walls of Tel Aviv today for the first time since the declaration of the Jewish state.

The newspaper used to threaten the British and announce killings for which the Sternists took responsibility.

Peruvian Government Troops Engage Rebels With Planes And Tanks

"Operation
Combine III"
Is Launched

Teamwork Polished
Up By Armed Forces

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., Oct. 3 (AP)—The armed forces are polishing up the teamwork technique that won the last war to make it ready, if need be, for use in another.

Units of the fighting services—Army, Navy, Air and Marines—are down here on the edge of the Gulf demonstrating methods. They are trying out, under field conditions, class room theories on how future invasions or counter-invasion actions should work.

They call it "Operation Combine III." The numerical designation shows this is the third time since the war that such refresher course studies have been made by the services.

Maneuvers Given Realism
To give the whole thing realism, the maneuvers are being played against a backdrop of a hypothetical diplomatic-military situation in which the governments of "Namora" and "Deluvia" are at war. Because of the imminence of war, Namora has decided to attack Deluvia, the plan being to split into two parts and capture the capital of Atlantis by land-sea air operations.

About 8,500 men and virtually all the weapons used in such operations are in the training-demonstration course. (Observers from the armed forces are here to pick up some new points.)

A score of different types of planes are used—fighters, little and big bombers, troop carriers, gliders, the Navy's carrier-based aircraft. Overall direction of aircraft is under Maj. Gen. William D. Old, skipper of the Tactical Air Command's 9th Air Force from Greenville, S. C. The Navy's air group 2 and Marine Air Group 14 are furnishing support to the ground troops.

500 Planes To Be Used
The Army's foot soldiers are represented in this year's demonstration by units of the 3rd Army and the 82nd Airborne Division.

In the schedule is an airborne attack in which paratroopers and glider-carried infantry establish an airhead in "enemy" territory. They land ready for action, equipped with mounted light artillery and the ever-present jeep. The second, and equally important phase of an airhead operation—resupply from the ground for the invading troops—will be shown.

About 500 planes are used in the operation, ranging from more than 100 USAF jet fighters to B-29 Superfortresses which will provide heavy bombardment support for the ground forces in the airhead position.

Boy Loses His Life
Trying To Save Rabbits

PERU, Ind., Oct. 3 (AP)—Robert Scott, 17, lost his life last night trying to save his rabbits.

He found the rabbit coop on fire and touched an electric wire while groping for the pets.

The youth was standing barefooted in a pool of water and died instantly.

History Made
Indians And Red Sox Tie;
Clash Today For Pennant

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox wound up the American League pennant race in a history-making first place tie today.

Cleveland, seeking its first pennant since 1920, was upset 7-1 by the Detroit Tigers while the Boston Red Sox made the defending world champion Yankees, 10-5. The Indians started the day one game ahead of the Red Sox. The Yankees finished third, two games off the pace.

This is the first time two American League teams have finished a season deadlocked for the lead. The National League had its first dead heat in 1946 when the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers tied. The Cards then beat the Dodgers two straight in a best-of-three playoff to take the championship.

The Indians and Red Sox will clash in a "sudden death" one-game playoff for the championship in Boston tomorrow—in accordance with the American League constitution.

The winner of tomorrow's game will face the National League's champion Boston Braves in the World Series, scheduled to start in Boston Wednesday. Final major league standings:

Insurgent Sailors
Surrender; Leader
Of Rebellion Seized

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 3 (AP)—Peruvian sailors and armed civilians backed by seized warships staged a rebellion early today at Callao, the port of Lima.

The government appeared to have the situation under control tonight, but fighting still continued at some points.

Government communiques issued this afternoon said focal points seized by the rebels — including the Peruvian Naval Academy, Naval Armory and Fort Royal Philip — had surrendered to loyal troops using tanks and planes.

However, an Associated Press reporter at the scene reported by telephone a handful of rebels with a cannon were still holding out.

The reporter said a large number of persons appeared to have been killed in the fighting. Ambulances were seen frequently crossing the streets to pick up the wounded.

Loyalists Ready Final Attack
The loyalists were preparing a final attack with an armored detachment supported by infantry troops against rebel holdout positions in the vicinity of the Naval Armory.

A government communique this afternoon said the armory and fort had been surrendered and that Commandant Jose Mosto, a leader of the uprising, had been arrested on board the cruiser Coronel Bolognesi. A subsequent communique said the rebels who had seized the academy also had surrendered and that the loyalist superintendent, Rear Adm. Manuel R. Nieto, had resumed command. Insurgent sailors were reported arrested.

Latest reports tonight said that after the surrender of the fort a group of rebels, waving a white flag, ambushed and wounded Infantry Capt. Alberto Leon Diaz who commanded the detachment which retook the fort. More than 400 prisoners were captured by the loyalists at the fort.

The newspaper El Comercio said naval cadets fought bravely to launch the government's attack on rebels in the academy. Many loyalist troops were reported wounded.

El Comercio said the cruiser Almirante Grau and the destroyer Villar, two of the vessels seized by the rebels to support their attack, had sailed into Callao Bay to surrender.

A government communique said: "State of Siege Decreed"

"Latest investigations confirmed that the Aprista Party (in opposition to policies of President Jose Luis Bustamante Rivero) inspired and directed the movement. Comdr. Enrique Aguilera Pardo, who is well known because of his Aprista leanings headed the rebellion aboard some warships. The police detained numerous civilians who affiliate themselves with the Aprista Party, many of them arrested while armed, and (Continued on Page 9, Col. 5)

Israel Opposes
Giving Up Negev

PARIS, Oct. 3 (AP)—Israel opposed today any plan for giving up the Negev in return for Western Galilee, saying it would make Trans-Jordan 19 times as large as Israel.

The Israeli delegation at the United Nations distributed a memorandum to the 58-nation Political Committee for the General Assembly declaring it will oppose any plan for separating the Negev—the desert area of Southern Palestine—from the new state.

The assassinated United Nations mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte, recommended that the Negev be given Arab Palestine and the Jews receive Western Galilee. The Negev was given to Israel in the United Nations partition plan of last November 29. There was no explanation why Israel mentioned Trans-Jordan in its memorandum, but informed sources have said Israel expects Trans-Jordan to be the ultimate benefactor in any territorial swap.

Fresno College Bans
Wallace Campus Talk

FRESNO, Calif., Oct. 3 (AP)—Fresno State College officials announced today they have informed Presidential Candidate, Court Folke Bernadotte, that he will not be allowed to make a scheduled non-political talk on the college campus tomorrow afternoon.

The Progressive Party candidate was to address students and faculty in the college auditorium at 2 p. m. Pacific Daylight Time.

Dean of Education, Mitchell P. Briggs told reporters protests had been received "accusing the college of political partisanship and it was feared they might lead to demonstrations on the part of persons not connected with the school."

19 Die In Plane Mishap

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Norwegian Airlines said today 19 persons, including three children, are definitely known to have perished in the capsizing of a giant flying boat at Hommelvik, near Trondheim.

The report said the plane, a Boeing 314, was en route from Oslo to London when it was struck by a heavy sea swell.

An accompanying statement by the Soviet commander — Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky — that Russia is willing to renew four-power negotiations on Moscow's terms — got a generally cynical reception. Allied authorities called it an empty propaganda gesture. The non-Communist press termed it irrelevant.

(Moscow newspapers devoted a full page to publication of the full text of Sokolovsky's statements. They seemed sure to arouse interest in Russian readers, since they treated in detail the four-power negotiations over the Berlin question.)

The Western Berlin press viewed the Marshal's statements as an attempt to justify Soviet actions here in German eyes. Western Berliners also saw it as an attempt to answer the accusations against Russia made in last Sunday's American white book, which has been circulated despite Russian efforts to keep it from the people of Berlin.

China Is 'Decisive' Area In 'Cold War,' Committee Says

House Group Report
Urges Greater Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—China was described today by a congressional committee as "the decisive area" in a world tug-of-war between Communist Russia and the Democratic West.

The committee urged greater financial aid to China. It said: "The United States is the sole entity in the world today so endowed with political power that it could conceivably extend to China an effective guaranty of territorial and political integrity."

It also called for outright military assistance to the Chinese national government, mainly rifles and other "simple and rudimentary" equipment.

Rep. Bolton Heads Group
The group, a House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee headed by Rep. Bolton (R-Ohio), said in a formal report:

"(China) is free in the sense that it is not wholly and directly a colony of any power. It is typical, and its choice (in world politics) will have an impact and set an example of overpowering weight. It is accessible to both sides.

"Its internal balance is easily overturned by any substantial intervention. Its fate will settle the fate of that half of humanity who live in the East."

The report was one of a series of the subcommittee has made on Communism in various parts of the world. Other members of the group are Reps. Mervyn (R-NH), Jackson (R-Calif.), Maloney (R-Pa.), Courtney (D-Tenn.), and Morgan (D-Pa.).

Reds Took Over Jap Arms
Russian intervention in China became possible when Russia entered the war against Japan in 1945, the report said. The Chinese national government was prevented by poor transportation facilities and Communist interference from disarming Japanese troops, and Japanese arms were taken over by the Chinese Communists.

"By the time the United States abandoned its efforts to secure a truce in China, and misguidedly to persuade the national government to accept a coalition with the Communists, the Communists were ready to renew the civil war former resources," the report said.

Efforts of the United States to arrange a coalition were "carried to extreme lengths beyond any historical parallel," the committee added.

Berliners Warned Russia
Won't Accept U. N. Action

BERLIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—Anxious Berliners, awaiting tomorrow's Security Council debate in Paris over their blockaded city, read in their newspapers today a warning from the Russian military chief here that the Soviet Union would not recognize any United Nations action in the case.

An accompanying statement by the Soviet commander — Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky — that Russia is willing to renew four-power negotiations on Moscow's terms — got a generally cynical reception. Allied authorities called it an empty propaganda gesture. The non-Communist press termed it irrelevant.

(Moscow newspapers devoted a full page to publication of the full text of Sokolovsky's statements. They seemed sure to arouse interest in Russian readers, since they treated in detail the four-power negotiations over the Berlin question.)

The Western Berlin press viewed the Marshal's statements as an attempt to justify Soviet actions here in German eyes. Western Berliners also saw it as an attempt to answer the accusations against Russia made in last Sunday's American white book, which has been circulated despite Russian efforts to keep it from the people of Berlin.

West Confident It Has Margin To Open Debate

Russians Indicate
They Would Ignore
Any Action By U. N.

LONDON, Monday, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Soviet government proposed today that the four-power foreign ministers council be called to consider both the Berlin impasse and the entire German situation.

The proposal was contained in the Russian reply to the notes of the United States, Britain and France that broke off direct talks on the Berlin crisis. The reply was broadcast by the Moscow radio and distributed here by the Soviet monitor.

PARIO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Western Power delegates predicted tonight Russia will fight hard against putting the Berlin issue before the United Nations Security Council.

But these delegates said they were confident they could get enough votes in the council to open full debate on their charges that Russia is threatening world peace through the Berlin blockade. The council's first crucial meeting on the issue is set for 3 p. m. (9 a. m. EST) tomorrow.

The Russians indicated they would ignore any United Nations action and stand fast on their position. This probable review of Soviet policy came in a long blast against the Western Powers by Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky in Berlin.

Soviet Price Made Clear
Sokolovsky stressed that the whole German question and not just Berlin is involved. He made it clear that the price of any agreement is dissolution of the Western German state being set up by the United States, Britain and France. The Marshal indicated the real reason that four-power talks over Berlin broke down was because the Western Powers would not discuss that point.

Reaction of western delegates to Sokolovsky's statements was speedy. One delegate said the issue is solely the blockade. He said the Russians are trying to drive out the Western Powers by force and in so doing created a situation threatening the peace of the world.

This delegate further said the United States, France and Britain are ready to talk about the whole German question but not under force of a blockade or pressure.

The Western Powers expect the first council meeting tomorrow to go this way:

United States Delegate Warren R. Austin, October president of the council, will rap the gavel. He will propose the adoption of the agenda "for the day," which includes only the Berlin question.

West Needs Seven Votes
Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky then is expected to move the council not to adopt the agenda, which means in court language throwing out the case.

The battle is expected to start then. Seven votes in the 11-nation council are needed to approve the (Continued from Page 9, Col. 5)

Standard Of California
Rejects Union Proposal

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Standard of California rejected a "conditional" settlement proposed by striking CIO oil workers today. At the same time, the oil company, one of six struck firms, indicated that all strikers would not be rehired when the strike is settled.

O. A. (Jack) Knight, president of the CIO union, said the union had offered "conditionally" to go back to work immediately.

The union proposed that workers be given the 12% cent increase offered by the companies and the difference between that and the 21 cents demanded by the union could be submitted to arbitration. Knight suggested that Gov. Warren and Acting Gov. Goodwin J. Knight be the arbitrators.

In disapproving the proposal, Standard said in a statement it "did not believe the unorthodox method suggested was a proper way to settle a general wage dispute."

Just Between Us Boy Must Take Care To Observe Nicies In Accompanying Girl

By NANCY MOTTRAM

You've just about decided that chivalry is dead. He climbs into his own side of the car and leaves you to get in on your own. In a restaurant, he does get your coat from the check-room but he usually hands it to you and lets you struggle into it by yourself while he pays the check.

In the movies, he sometimes makes it a point to go first and locate the seats, and sometimes he lets you lead the way. When you're outside again, it's a matter of pure chance whether he moves to the outside or lets you walk along the curbside.

The boys you've dated in the past have made it a point to observe all the little points that go with good manners, and you aren't used to this kind of treatment. You've grown to expect to be treated in a certain way, and you can't get used to this set-up. You don't consider yourself demanding, and you certainly don't expect him to play Sir Walter Raleigh and spread his tweed sport coat in the nearest mud-puddle just to prove he respects you.

But you don't think he should act as if Emily Post had never been heard of. He's the boy you go around with, and you want the crowd to like him. You've dropped all the hints you can think of, without getting any noticeable results. You don't want to hurt his feelings or act as if the whole thing were a major issue. But it bothers you, and you have the notion that your friends are noticing it.

First of all, the rest of the gang aren't paying nearly as much attention to you and your date as you think they are. The little things that seem important to you probably aren't even noticed when you're all together.

Bear in mind that the whole question of good manners boils down to kindness and helpfulness to the other person. It isn't so much a question of observing all the rules, although it is generally a good idea to follow through on the little things that are accepted as proper. But don't forget the time that he shivered through a football game because you'd dressed for July weather and then wore his jacket. Or the times you've borrowed his tennis racket and skis and found out later he'd planned to use them that day. It isn't the form of the thing that counts so much as the fact that he's really fond of you and wants to do things for you. Drop a few hints now and then, and he'll realize that there are a few small things you wish he'd brush up on. If that fails, and you know him well enough, you might explain tactfully that you wish he'd observe the little formalities when you're in a crowd. Make it clear that you aren't criticizing, but that you think he may not realize how things look to the others. Remember the coat at the football game? He wants to please you, and he'll go along with the little customs you want him to practice. Mrs. Mottram wants to help with your problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Local Church To Honor Pastor With Reception

Rev. Charles King Welch will be honored by the congregation of Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church at a reception tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the church. Rev. Gordon C. Jones, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church, will speak.

Rev. Welch began his 11th year at the church when he delivered his World Communion address yesterday. This is the longest period Bethany has had the same pastor.

Rev. Welch joined the Virginia Conference of the church in 1921. He was ordained in 1928 at Roanoke, Va., by Bishop William Bell. At the ordination, Dr. W. F. Gruver, founder of the local church, served as Conference superintendent.

He was reappointed last week to the local charge by Bishop J. Palmer Showers, Harrisburg, Pa., at the 149th annual session of the Virginia Conference. The conference was held at St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Staunton, Va. One of the speakers at the conference was Bishop John S. Stamm, who recently returned from the World Council of Churches Conference held at Amsterdam, Holland.

Rev. Mr. Welch has served four churches during his ministry. He was at the Winchester, Va., charge for two years; at Tom's Creek and Strausburg, Va., for eighteen months; at Westernport for 13 years and here for 10 years.

Other appointments of interest in this vicinity are Rev. Lee Shaffer to Potomac Park; Rev. Harry Koontz to Westernport; Rev. J. Paul Sionaker to Berkeley Springs, W. Va., and Rev. Robert Bridges to Keyser. Rev. Mr. Bridges succeeds his father, Rev. L. S. Bridges, who is retiring and who was pastor of the church here prior to Rev. Mr. Welch.

Cresaplain To Seek Special Taxing Area

The Cresaplain Civic Improvement Association announced Saturday that members voted overwhelmingly to form a special taxing area to secure an adequate water supply for the community.

Members, at meetings held Friday and Saturday, voted 110-2 for the special taxing area. The votes favored full incorporation. Work will begin at once to prepare legislation to be presented at the General Assembly in January.

George Barker Named Paw Paw Teacher

PAW PAW, W. Va. — George Barker, Great Cacapon, has accepted a teaching position at Paw Paw High School.

Mrs. Winifred Layton, a former member of the faculty, has assumed teaching duties in the graded school at Great Cacapon. Mrs. Albert Simmons has succeeded Mrs. Layton here.

The hot lunch program will be resumed today at the local school, with Mrs. Earl Noland in charge, assisted by Mrs. Kathleen Gordon.

Camera, Saw Stolen

C. E. Diehl, Holland Street, notified police that his car was stolen Friday night and later recovered at a local service station. The intruder, he said, stole a camera from the car and tried to remove the car's radio.

D. N. Magruder, 818 Columbia Avenue, told police a hand saw valued at $5 was taken from his truck Friday night. Gasoline was also taken from the tank, he added.

HYNDMAN PERSONALS

Elmer Evans, Pittsburgh, visited his mother, Mrs. Annie Evans, who is ill at her home, and his brother, Samuel C. Evans, a patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, Md.

Mrs. Roy Thorpe, Cumberland, spent Wednesday with friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rowland and daughters have returned to their home in Lincoln, Nebraska, after spending two weeks with Mrs. Rowland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Spiker.

School clothes cost money. More money than many unfortunate Cumberland families can afford to pay.

But through the goodness of their fellow citizens, many mothers of their children comfortably, warmly dressed—children who might otherwise be shivering in threadbare rags. Every week, thoughtful persons send clothing to Associated Charities. Some call, and the clothing is picked up at their homes.

Much of it is children's clothing. Most of it shows little wear. Johnny or Mary "just grew out of it."

Suitable for play, school, even Sunday wear, it goes to deserving boys and girls.

In this respect, the city becomes a large family. And Associated Charities becomes a family, clothes closet. In nearly every family, clothing is handed down until it outlives its usefulness. Through this family service agency, it can be handed down from one family to another.

Business houses, as well as individuals, have hearts for the underprivileged.

New clothing sometimes fills a need better than anything else in the world. But funds for new clothing are limited. The Community Chest has many agencies to support. Every nickel must be made to count.

To help out, many merchants provide credit slips for use in making purchases in their stores. Others call when they discontinue a line out of place—even heartbroken—if they had to start to school in rough or ragged clothing. Confidence, that most important ingredient of the personality, gets a big boost when the shirt is crisp, the colored sweater is flashing newness, and the corduroy trousers are singing to the whole world that they've never been worn before.

Associated Charities dressed nearly 100 children for the opening day of school this year.

Christmas is another day when new shoes and clothing help to make happiness. Santa Claus might somehow manage a scooter or wagon—but such toys lose much of their glamor when the foot that pushes them is on the ground.

Last year, Associated Charities received nearly 15,000 pieces of used clothing, and nearly 1,500 new pieces. It was not distributed piece-meal. In every case, an effort was made to help weld Cumberland into a bigger, happier, healthier community.

NO THROAT IRRITATION
DUE TO SMOKING CAMELS!

{Not a single case!}

FROM COAST TO COAST, the reports were the same: Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

These reports were based on a total of 2470 examinations by noted throat specialists of the throats of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days.

And these men and women smoked on the average of one to two packages of Camels a day!

Yes, Camels are that mild! But prove it for yourself. In your own "T-Zone"—T for Taste and T for Throat. Smoke Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days. Let YOUR OWN TASTE tell you about the full, rich flavor of Camel's choice, properly aged tobaccos. And let YOUR OWN THROAT tell you about that marvelously cool Camel mildness!

Piedmont Needs
Sewage System,
Commission SaysCouncil Told Order
May Be Issued

Piedmont, W. Va.—Piedmont is responsible for "serious stream pollution," and the community has been placed in first priority for provision of a sewage system, according to a letter received by Mayor Harold Fredrick and the City Council from the West Virginia Water Commission.

Signed by W. W. Jennings, commission treasurer, the letter said if sewage planning is not inaugurated by Piedmont within a reasonable period of time, "this will be construed by the commission as sufficient grounds for the issuance of an order, after an appropriate hearing, relating to the pollution."

The commission also requested Piedmont officials to report by letter progress made toward sewage treatment in each six-month period, and offered assistance in solving the problem.

"It is requested that you write this office within 30 days, indicating what action you are taking with reference to sewage treatment and how we can assist you in solving this problem," Jennings' letter added.

Because of the present financial condition of the town, Mayor Fredrick and the City Council decided unanimously that immediate action on the proposal could not be taken. Building permits were granted to Donald Saville, Frederick and Dundee Streets to build frame bungalow of wooden material and insul brick 24x28 feet, and Albert Smith to build two additional rooms to residence on Keyser Road.

A letter commending the services of Officer Thomas Welsh for the kindness he performed for Mrs. Anna Logsdon, of Barton, was also read by Mayor Fredrick.

The letter states: "This is to publicly acknowledge the kind and courteous assistance of Officer Welsh on Monday afternoon, August 16. He went out of his way to help when my car would not start for me."

Mayor Fredrick announced that the city had received a check for $1,000 from the West Virginia Liquor Control Commission for Piedmont's pro rata share for three months' sales at the liquor store.

Fire Destroys Barn
Near Frostburg

FROSTBURG — A frame barn containing some 30 tons of hay and miscellaneous farm equipment at the farm of George Henry Bloch, six miles west of Frostburg, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin Saturday afternoon.

Frostburg and Grantsville volunteer firemen, who were summoned after members of the family saw smoke pouring from the building, were unable to save the blazing structure but prevented flames from spreading to other buildings.

Rathbun Granted
Leave Of Absence

OAKLAND—Franklin E. Rathbun, county superintendent of schools for 36 years, who is due for retirement in December, was granted a leave of absence by the Board of Education recently.

Walter W. Dawson, president of the board, said it was customary in Maryland to grant a leave of absence of several months prior to retirement to superintendents who had long records of service. Among the 23 superintendents in Maryland, Rathbun had earned the title of "dean" through length of service.

At the same meeting the board appointed R. Bowen Hardesty acting superintendent, effective until December 22, and also named him superintendent, effective December 23, 1948, for a four-year term. Hardesty had been serving as assistant superintendent since he arrived here early in the year.

Board members noted progress made in the county school program during Rathbun's tenure of office and stated that "through deep conviction and experience in the educational field, Mr. Rathbun early advocated the consolidation of schools to afford youth advantages in better instruction, acquiring from having larger groups of students under one roof."

In his 36 years Rathbun closed 115 one-room schools and developed larger centers.

The board commended Rathbun for his "long and faithful service to the county, for his untiring efforts to bring about better schools for our county, and for his splendid co-operation with the several boards under which he served for many years."

Alcoholics Anonymous To Set Up
Keyser And Tri-Towns Chapter

KEYSER, W. Va.—Alcoholics Anonymous, composed of 75,000 men and women grouped together in some 1,500 units, all afflicted with the disease of alcoholism, will establish a group for the Keyser and Tri-Towns area at a public meeting Wednesday, October 6, 8 p. m., at St. Mary's Hall, James Street, Keyser. The organizational meeting will be conducted by a group of the Cumberland Alcoholics Anonymous, who, in themselves, are proof that the disease can be arrested.

Prominent medical men agree that alcoholism is a disease, and the United States Public Health Service recognizes alcoholism as the No. 4 health problem today.

Alcoholics Anonymous seeks to make the alcoholic realize he has a disease for which there is no cure. The disease can be arrested and the problem made easier with the AA way of life.

There is only one person who understands an alcoholic, and that is another alcoholic, they contend. According to medical societies and prominent physicians, AA, through their close association, discussing their problems with one another and aiding fellow alcoholics in times of stress, has a better rehabilitation record than science or religion.

AA members remain anonymous and their friends do not know unless the members choose to admit it. There are no dues or membership fees in the organization. No belief in any particular medical or religious views are required. Only to have a sincere desire to recover and stop drinking are asked.

Members stressed that they are not evangelists or reformers and regardless where they meet have no connections with any religious or temperance groups. They stated that AA has but one purpose, "to help the alcoholic get well." There is no magic wand and they do not request any pledges or promises from the newcomer. There are no from the newcomers. There are no this meeting will endeavor to bring to the public as well as the alcoholic, the seriousness of this disease, so they may be a help instead of dangerous criticism. The public must be educated in the following truths, alcoholism is a disease and the alcoholic is a sick person; the alcoholic can be helped and is worth helping; and this is a public health problem and therefore a public responsibility.

Wilhelm Given
Three Year-Term

OAKLAND—Marvin Leonard Wilhelm, a resident of Baltimore county who pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery in Circuit Court here last week, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary by Chief Judge Joseph D. Mith and Associate Judge Oliver H. Bruce Jr.

While visiting relatives in Kitzmiller, Wilhelm hitch-hiked a ride near Oakland on September 11 from Harold Bachtel, of Red House, and held him up at gunpoint. To prove the gun was not a toy, Wilhelm allegedly fired a shot through the car window.

Other cases heard and tried during this term include the following: Julius Wilhelm, charged with assault of Willard E. Blocher, was found not guilty.

In the cases of John M. Patterson for assault (three separate charges) and destroying fencing, and against Fred Harvey, Calvin Harvey and Elmer R. Hostler, charged in indictments of destruction of property, all charges were dismissed.

Tomorrow Is Your Last Chance To Qualify As Voter

The first of two days on which residents of Allegany county were given the opportunity to make themselves eligible to vote in this presidential year was held a week ago tomorrow. The results left much to be desired. It would seem that many persons whose names have been dropped from the poll books, those who have declared their intention to vote or those who have become of age and have the opportunity to cast their first ballot neglected to take advantage of the right given to qualify for the exercising of this precious franchise on November 2.

The second and final chance to have your name entered upon the polling books will be given tomorrow. It may be an exaggeration but there is a good deal of truth in the statement which seasoned politicians are making that next month's election will be decided by the registration tomorrow. To vote is a high trust. The average American owes it to himself to see that he is registered so that he can make his views felt on election day.

If you are a resident of Allegany county, and are not registered already, don't forget to put in an appearance at the polling place in your precinct tomorrow. It's your last chance!

Security Council Tackles Explosive Berlin Issue

A debate of paramount importance to the entire world, dealing with the explosive Berlin issue, opens today before the United Nations Security Council. It represents another great effort to bring peace to the universe that the recent war was supposed to have achieved.

World War II ended more than three years ago. We had whipped two of the most powerful nations on earth, but at a tremendous cost in lives and money. We had made the world safe for all peoples.

There were to be no more wars. Friend and foe alike were to share in our bounty, that all might return to the ways of peace. Because we had been victorious we could afford to be magnanimous. If all this was tinged with goofiness, the main reason it backfired was Russia.

Communist Russia was officially recognized by Washington 15 years ago after four Presidents—Wilson, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover—had refused to have any dealings with it. Russia was allied with Hitler at the beginning of the war. After Hitler double-crossed his pal Stalin before Stalin could double-cross him, Washington thought nothing was too good for the Moscow Communists.

Although Russia shot down American planes in Siberia and refused to admit American military observers to the Russian front in Europe, it was generously decided to let Russia take Berlin. Washington shut its eyes when the Reds began a systematic looting of German resources. There was no harm in letting the Russian government build up its military resources, it was held. These resources might be needed if the Moscow regime encountered trouble from Russians who objected to Communist despotism, which Washington seemed to regard as "democracy."

There was to be no more war anyway, so let Russia have all the guns she wanted. We even sent her more during recent years, just to keep her happy. Peace has not come to the world because little men in Washington depended upon the goodwill of the Russian people to help bring it about. Failing to understand the workings of the Communist mind, this nation's leaders coddled and petted those who now have openly turned against America.

Through weary months of hoping for peace, this nation again has progressed to the point of war. War which was never to come again because the Russians were just like Americans, and their damnable government was "democracy."

The crisis, stemming from the Berlin controversy, has deepened. Disparing of any agreement with Soviet Russia through direct negotiations, the United States, Britain and France have been forced to submit the issue of the Berlin blockade to the United Nations Security Council.

In their notes to Moscow, the Allies rehearse the Soviet record of intimidation, deception and evasion which proves clearly that Russia does not want a four-power agreement. Russia wants to control Berlin alone, in violation of the Potsdam agreement, as a foothold for the domination of all Germany. When Russia finally demanded control of even the air lanes between the west and Berlin, the Allies had no other recourse than to submit the whole question to the Security Council as an international dispute threatening war.

In taking this step, the Allies merely carry out an obligation which they accepted as members of the United Nations. They can hardly entertain any real hope that the Council will take effective action in Berlin. Russia has the power of veto—which she has already exercised 27 times—to block any sanctions against herself. What the Allies must hope for is a moral judgement against Russia by a majority of the Council, together with a set of recommendations for lifting the blockade.

It is taken for granted by everybody concerned that Russia would ignore any such recommendations. Indeed, she has just announced that there is no hope of agreement within the United Nations.

The real worry in Washington, Paris and London today is not, however, a United Nations crisis. It is that Russia has deliberately embarked on a course of action which may leave no alternative but a shooting war. The most seasoned observers in Europe, taking their cue from General Clay, have believed all along that Russia does not want a third world war. But there has been a constant danger that Russia would underestimate the resistance of the Allies and take some aggressive action which would make war inevitable.

When Governor Dewey calls upon the world to pray for peace, he is not being dramatic. He has offered a nine-point program which he would inaugurate if he were elected President that would end this nation's "wobbling" on foreign policy. Gov. Dewey's proposals could very well prove the foundation on which peace could be brought to the world. But in striving to bring about what he sincerely believes a peace that is possible he is determined that this nation shall not be subjected to bullying by any nation.

A Strange Epidemic

There are many diseases which are capable of spreading throughout a community and incapacitating hundreds of people in a relatively short time. Flu, measles, and polio are well known along this line, but among the less common is a peculiar infection which settles in certain muscles. When it strikes a neighborhood many suddenly develop a stiff neck or pleurisy-like pain in the lower part of the thorax.

When the chest is involved, the condition is known as epidemic pleurodynia. Without warning the victims develop severe knife-like pains over the lower ribs on one side of the body. The distress originates from the muscles of the diaphragm and consequently seems to arise in some instances from the upper part of the abdomen and in others in the lower part of the chest. At any rate, the aching is accentuated by deep breathing, coughing, or sneezing. By remaining quiet or grasping the chest, the patient feels more comfortable. In this respect, the condition mimics pleurisy.

Now and then, the pain radiates to the shoulders and neck or into the upper or lower abdomen and back. The skin over the involved area is tender to the touch. During the period of distress, the temperature is elevated and occasionally reaches 103 degrees F. Severe frontal headache, nausea, and vomiting are usually present and add to the discomfort. But the disease has one other characteristic. Within 12 to 48 hours after the onset, pain and fever disappear only to return in two or three days. Variations are common; pain may last several days before subsiding and may pass before a second attack makes its appearance. In addition, some have several bouts before the disturbance vanishes completely.

It is fortunate that almost everyone recovers, because there is no specific treatment. The pain can be eased with analgesic drugs such as the salicylates and codeine. Penicillin and the other antibiotics are of questionable value because the causative germ is not known. Most authorities, however, believe that a virus is responsible and that it attacks principally muscles in much the same way that the virus of polio is partial to certain nerve fibers.

Occasionally the diaphragm escapes and the large muscle near the back of the neck bears the brunt of the attack. When this occurs the disturbance is known as epidemic myalgia and the manifestations are indistinguishable from an ordinary stiff neck. The onset is sudden, as in pleurodynia, and any movements of the neck and shoulder muscles are painful. As a result, the individual holds the head stationary and turns the entire body in order to look to the side. The symptoms usually subside within a day or two, and follow a pattern similar to the other disturbances.

Since the condition is an epidemic disease, the first case is hard to diagnose but after several persons are similarly afflicted it becomes obvious as to what is happening. The first epidemic of this kind occurred in Iceland in 1856 and since then they have cropped up in many parts of the world. In 1935 more than 300 developed myalgia in Boston and in 1942 approximately 166 were afflicted in Brooklyn. Epidemics are common in boarding schools and now and then occur among the personnel of a hospital.

Inflammation of the tonsils, gums, and throat caused by certain germs. The disturbance is known better as trench mouth, because it is more common when large groups of individuals eat together, as in army barracks.

SWEATING HEAD
Mrs. E. R. writes: What is the cause of excessive sweating of the head in a child 2 years old?

If the youngster does not have a fever or is not dressed too warm, it probably is a normal phenomenon. Individuals vary in this respect and some perspire more than others.

UNSTEADY

A disturbance in the brain or certain parts of the hearing apparatus should be considered. Because there are many other possibilities, examination is in order.

That in itself will be good information in 1952 when Hank is asked if he wants his votes hard-boiled or soft.

Dulles Involved In Case Regarding Disposition Of American Bosch Plant In U. S. District Of Columbia Court; Swedes Paid By Nazis To "Cloak" Operations

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Perhaps because it's buried in a mass of legal documents, or because it contains political dynamite, newspapers have left unnoticed a case in the U. S. District of Columbia court which comes up before Judge Matt Maguire today. It involves John Foster Dulles.

It also shows how the Nazis operated through the Swedes to hide the true ownership of the American Bosch plant at Springfield, Mass., and how Dulles was involved in the deal.

The story goes back to 1940 when the Germans, knowing war with the United States was inevitable, made a deal with the Stockholm Enskilda Bank to take over the American Bosch plant, valued at $8,000,000, and "cloak" it under Swedish ownership for the duration of the war.

It was provided that the Swedes would give the plant back to the Germans after the war. To "cloak" the plant, the Swedes got a fee of $650,000.

All this was strictly secret. And during the war the Swedes protested that they owned the plant, not the Germans.

But toward the close of the war, the U. S. Army found a false wall in a Stuttgart air-raid shelter, behind which was a box of secret papers regarding the American Bosch deal.

Dulles Would Delay
These showed in detail how Marcus Wallenberg, head of the Enskilda Bank, had come to New York conferred with Dulles and his law firm, Sullivan and Cronwell, and arranged a voting trust for the German-owned Springfield plant for the balance of the war. Furthermore it was arranged that if George Murnane, appointed voting trustee for the company, should die, John Foster Dulles would name his successor.

Later, through a complicated process, the voting trust certificates were placed with a Delaware corporation, "Providentia," owned by the Swedes, and then the shares of this corporation were put in another voting trust controlled by Dulles.

Thus Dulles not only held the voting trust, but drew up the agreement and was also to name Murnane's successor.

This secret agreement remained unknown to the U. S. Government all during the war at a time when Mr. Dulles was acting as foreign-affairs adviser to Governor Dewey and as U. S. adviser to the United Nations. He told no one in the Government about it.

Today the matter comes up in Federal Court when the U. S. Government will demand that the Wallenbergs of Sweden, star witnesses in the case, be required to come to the United States and testify.

The Dulles law firm has opposed this, and Government attorneys charge that Dulles is fighting a delaying action so the case will not be heard until after January when a new Republican administration will control final disposition of the American Bosch plant.

Note—Senator Styles Bridges (I New Hampshire, Republican, has vigorously urged Dewey not to appoint Dulles as Secretary of State, warned that he might not be confirmed by the Senate.

Bipartisan Nepotism
Democratic Congressman Jasper Bell of Missouri, who represents President Truman's home (the Fourth) District, announces this year that he was retiring from Congress. However, what he didn't tell the voters was that he had put his married daughter, Virginia Bussells, back on the payroll for the duration of his term.

Following a nepotism expose last year, the Missourian yanked daughter Virginia off the payroll in a big hurry. This was before he decided to retire. But now that he isn't running for re-election and doesn't have to worry about adverse publicity, Virginia has been reinstated (as of July 15) at $2,400 a year.

Meantime, Republican Rep. Cliff Cleveland of Ohio also is performing some interesting sleight-of-hand in the payroll department. His secretary, Edgar A. Drake is paid $5,000 and works at the job.

But what Cleveland's constituents don't know is that Drake's wife, Grace, also has been put on the payroll as a full-time employee—salary, $4,500 a year. However, what she does—if anything—around the office is a mystery. As one source close to Cleveland puts it:

"I've known Mr. Cleveland for a number of years and in all that time I've never laid eyes on Mrs. Drake in his office."

In charges of the House Un-American Activities Committee's search for spies who stole atomic secrets, Congressman John McDowell of Pennsylvania would also like to find out who stole his underwear. Virginia bucks worth of brand new undies were swiped from him before he had a chance to try them on. . . . George Allen, ex-White House press secretary, has contributed only $200 to his friend Harry Truman's campaign fund. (Maybe George thinks he did enough when he took Eisenhower out of the race.) . . . Washington's blueblood Metropolitan Club has decided to snub Pan American Airways' well-greased lobby. It has just black-balled Pan Am's lobbyist, popular Bill McAvoy, sometimes called "the Senator" because of his adroit manner on Capitol Hill. Bill had the backing of U. S. Treasurer William A. Julian, but it wasn't enough to put him across. . . . European Relief Administrator Paul Hoffman has passed down word that his organization will keep its books wide open to the public. As a result several companies, which had hoped to do business with the Marshall Plan countries in private, are screaming in protest.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 3.—(INS)—Sideglances at celebrities: The mellowness and other changes that have come to Tom Dewey since his first year in Albany, as governor of New York, are the current talk of local reporters who have made a conscientious study of the man whom all the polls pick to be the next President.

The average executive mansion reporter considered the rugged little D.A. a tough cookie when he first came here. His answers to their questions were short. He had difficulty remembering their names, and his interest in Albany itself seemed a little remote.

But something happened to him about 1944, the boys say, and the change has been steady ever since. A certain intensity has been replaced by an easy going manner. With the third-degree lights of television blazing in his eyes he can now spot—and name by name—friends in the unimportant row. Even those who plan to vote against him (Albany itself probably will vote Democratic by about 20,000 votes in November) declare stoutly that Dewey has become a very warm human being.

They like him, trivially enough, for some of his curious facts. At press conferences in recent months Dewey dazzled even the old hands by quoting budget figures galore without a single reference to notes. He remembered the names of everybody, and the names of most of their children.

Then, when he left on his cross-country campaign tour, he forgot to pack his underwear.

Dewey is amassing a wealth of souvenir elephants for his Albany office via his towering friend and executive assistant, Paul Lockwood, all of which may one day find places on the desk in that oval room in Washington. He has them in tin, bronze, wood, iron, granite, marble and almost every other material.

Dewey's singing voice, on which he once based his career, is considered better than ever by those who have heard it lately, though he hasn't used it much this year. His specialty are selections from "Rose Marie" if that's revealing.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Division of Power

THE CONSTITUTION of this country never intended so sharp a division of authority as President Truman seeks to establish among the three branches of government. To Truman, the Executive, the Legislative and the Judicial branches are separate, distinct, non-cooperative and antagonistic. What the Constitution seeks is not an anarchy of quarreling, cantankerous separate governmental sections, but rather a balance of power, an avoidance of overweighing one with too much authority yet each dependent upon the other.

For instance, Congress passes legislation, but the President must approve or veto the acts of Congress. The President is in charge of Administration, but Congress provides the appropriations. The President collects taxes, but Congress decides how much they are to be and how they are to be spent. The Justices of the Supreme Court are appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate, but they may invalidate an act of Congress approved by the President.

This balance of powers with a dovetailing of functions is the particular genius of American government and has safeguarded the American people from tyranny by a President or by a majority or by an overpowering minority.

Recently President Truman wrote a letter to David P. Findling, Associate General Counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, in which he displayed a total misunderstanding of the essence of the American governmental plan:

"In my conference with the National Labor Relations Board on its organization, I informed the members of that board and the counsel that they constituted a part of the Executive Branch of the Government and since the Chief Executive did not expect to interfere in their internal affairs, he expected that they would be immune to pressure from the legislative branch of the Government."

The NLRB is not outside the American constitutional system. It does not exist on the moon or Mars. Its members are appointed by the President of the United States with the advice and consent of the Senate. Its appropriations are passed on by the Bureau of the Budget, are submitted for consideration to Congress, are investigated by a Committee of each House, are passed by Congress, signed by the President, paid by the Treasury, in conformity with Congressional decision, out of taxes collected principally by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. At least five committees of Congress may at any time investigate the NLRB with power of subpoena. Its decisions are, in some matters, subject to judicial review.

This is very different from President Truman's concept of any board, bureau, commission, department of government standing far off alone, separate from all else. His error arose from a political desire to hit at Senator Taft, which is not important one way or the other, the Senator is able to fend for himself, and were this an isolated instance one might let it pass as a sideswipe during a campaign.

But the President has assumed this same attitude in relationship with data needed by Congressional Committees in their investigations. Much of this data exists in the files of Administration agencies of government. Some of it is now available nowhere else.

Mr. Truman adopts the position that he and the Eightieth Congress are having a personal quarrel and that he will provide the data to the Congress. How important it may be to a national standpoint that it should be made available.

Similarly, in spite of the fact that Congress may pass wrong legislation because it lacks the facts which the State Department possesses, he has only provided the Republican majority with a minimum of information on the conduct of our foreign policy—and that despite an agreement to operate a Bipartisan Foreign Policy and the formal designation of John Foster Dulles to represent the Republicans in this relationship.

It is curious that Mr. Truman should assume this attitude, for he started his national career as a Senator, served as chairman of an investigating committee and moved in one of the branches of government while he acted in that capacity.

Apparently, his anger at Congress unwarranted, and his leadership on the same terms that it accepted Mr. Roosevelt's leadership has so angered him that his point of view has become distorted.

Two Rules, If Followed, Could Mean Continued Prosperity

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 3.—American Public Enemy No. 1 today is inflation, but unfortunately like Enemy No. 2, which is liquor, too many people are temporarily prospering by flirting with these enemies.

The American people today have more dollars than at any time in our history, nearly $2,000,000,000—even after taxes have been taken out. That's about two and one-half times as much as they had pre-war. There have been tremendous post-war spurts in individual earnings. Per capita income in the United States has increased 130 per cent over 1940 levels. Incidentally, folks in Kansas, the Dakotas, and the great Northwest have had the greatest increases in income.

The trouble is that prices are so much higher, more than twice as high and still going up—that your dollar and mine now buy less than at any time since the post-Revolutionary days of the 1780's. Cheap automobiles and housing, for example, are now out of reach of the average worker. Yet this bad condition will continue so long as labor leaders and politicians are making money from high prices.

One hundred cents today will buy only forty per cent of the food it purchased pre-war. The post-war clothing dollar has declined to approximately fifty per cent of its pre-war value. A dollar spent today to keep a roof over your head will buy but eighty-nine cents worth of pre-war rentals, while new housing is only about sixty-cents worth of pre-war value. The dollar, when you consider its all-around purchasing power, is a mere shadow of what it once was. A dollar spent today on a refrigerator, butter, milk, bread, suits, and shoes, will buy only about half the things it bought in 1940! Inflation is our major national headache today—our Public Enemy No. 1.

The picture today is much the same as it was after the last war when the dollar was worth only fifty cents in terms of the goods and services it would buy. A study of business cycles shows that inflation follows wars. This is usually characterized by cheap money and a business boom. But the business boom usually turns itself out. So prepare yourself. A day of reckoning will as surely follow as does night the day.

Stop The Boom!
The President and our Congress have offered sure-cures to end our present inflationary spiral. I know of no time in our history where a major price rise was ever halted by politics. High prices are the result of a shortage of goods and a surplus of money—and as I recently explained—of various laws which Roosevelt had passed to force higher prices. Since 1940-41 the supply of money has outrun the supply of goods. People have needed or wanted things short on supply and have had the money, for the first time, to buy them. As buyers we have bid against one another for available goods. Hence, prices have soared.

There are three fundamental things which we can do to help stop this inflationary spiral. If high prices and inflation are the result of (1) a shortage of goods and (2) a surplus of money and (3) New Deal Legislation, then we should (1) increase our productivity along all fronts, (2) wait awhile for buying what we can now get along without, and (3) have Congress repeal the crazy laws it passed in 1932-34. Increased production has already broken the price rise in some commodities. A supply exceeding demand has already shown up along some manufacturing lines. Shortages still exist along such lines as steel and autos. But given time a greater balance in our economy will result.

Tinkering with natural economic laws and with politics will cure neither inflation nor deflation. Let's buy those things which are in full supply and encourage our fellow workers to produce to capacity. In other words, let us use self-control and religion in buying and producing. This could well mean the difference between a "bust" and continued prosperity.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

We ought to take time out, every once in a while, to give a proper appraisal to the enjoyments of life, and to adjust its values. I came across this sentence from the writings of Gracian, the Spanish philosopher. He said: "Be slow in enjoyment, quick at work, for men are to be great with pleasure, pleasure ended with regret."

No matter where we roam, or what we do, we should always gain enjoyment from it. If we do not, we are merely taking up time and wasting the precious substance of ourselves. If we work solely for gain, we gain little. The late Admiral Barry once wrote me a letter in which he stated that he devoted a great part of his life to the discovery of the North Pole—for the pure pleasure of having done something that had never been done before.

It doesn't matter what a person does, so long as he gains personal satisfaction from it, and gets daily enjoyment from it. Doing work that gives to one the greatest happiness is in itself success. People who enjoy their work are always the most efficient and the most valuable as workers. No worker is able who hates his work.

I often think of that fine old gentleman who joined a friend and myself at a Jacksonville hotel for breakfast one morning, some years ago. He was a personified sunbeam. He sat down and said: "Boys, I grow happier and happier each day of my life." And each of us grew happier as we talked. That man carried enjoyment around with him—a wise method for us all.

All through life we should court desire. A desire for usefulness, for friends, for an appreciation of beauty, an understanding of the forces of nature—and for pure enjoyment in all that we do. Without this desire we surrender to our fear and lose our rudder of perpetual faith.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

I flew back east the other day with a group of picture people for the Air Force Association convention. They had asked for top celebrities . . . but I went anyway.

Jack Benny was going but when he got down to the airport, he suddenly found he had fifteen dollars in his pocket and the air force refused him fighter protection. Adolphe Menjou and Paul Lukas were abroad. Being named "men of distinction" has certainly spoiled them. They never talked . . . just sat around feeling the material in each other's suits.

American Airlines furnished the plane free of charge. All I had to

PBC Fight Card Tonight Features Five Inter-City Matches

Homewood, Pa. Washington Boys To Clash

Stitcher Will Present 11th Show At Armory

Matchmaker John Henry Stichter has lined up a flock of new faces for his Police Boys' Club amateur boxing show tonight at the State Armory.

The program will be topped by five inter-city matches between teams representing the Merrick Boys' Club, Washington, D. C., and the Homewood (Pa.) Athletic Club and nine of the ten visitors slated to show their wares will be making their initial appearance in a local show.

Smith Faces Lewis
Eugene Smith, the clever negro bantamweight of the Merrick Boys' Club, who halted the seven-bout winning streak of "Sonny" Lafferty two weeks ago, and defeated Bobby Goss in the Olympic tryouts at Philadelphia last spring, has been paired with "Sonny" Lewis, 118 pounder of the Homewood Club.

In the other inter-city tests the pairings will be as follows:

Willie Parker, Homewood A. C. vs. Eddie Gibson, Merrick A. C.
Paul Robinson, Homewood A. C. vs. Eddie Woodson, Merrick A. C.
James E. Kelley, Jr., Homewood A. C. vs. Gil Stewart, Merrick A. C.
James E. Kelley, Jr., Homewood A. C. vs. Eugene Moore, Homewood A. C.
James E. Kelley, Jr., Homewood A. C. vs. Eugene Moore, Homewood A. C.
James E. Kelley, Jr., Homewood A. C. vs. Eugene Moore, Homewood A. C.

Other matches on the card will be made up of local talent, filling out the eight-bout card, Stichter said last night.

Stitcher's 11th Show
The P.B.C. show will be the eleventh under Stichter's supervision since amateur boxing was revived here late in 1946. James E. Kelley, Jr., will referee all bouts on the card and the official time will be John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh with Nelson W. Russell as announcer. Judges will be announced before the bouts get under way.

The curtain raiser will go on at 8 o'clock.

Dashiells Dux Team Tops Bowl-Mor Jrs.

BARTON, Md., Oct. 3.—The Dashiells Dairy of Midland defeated the Bowl-Mor Juniors dux team by a total of 175 pins last week on the Bowl-Mor alleys.

Bill Truly paced the winners with a high set of 463 while Roy Winters spilled 439 pins for the Juniors. The Juniors are composed of boys 16 to 21 years of age and would like to bowl other teams of this age group. T. E. Davis, manager of the Bowl-Mor Centre, announced.

Honey-bees weigh about 5,000 individuals to the pound. The average weight of a honey-bee is less than one three-hundredths of an ounce.

Terp Soccer Team To Play 10 Games

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 3.—The mythical National Championship soccer team of the University of Maryland will play a 10 match schedule this season, it was announced today by Jim Tatum, Director of Athletics.

Coached by Doyle Royal, the Terps booters won the mythical championship title when they downed Temple U. for their first defeat in five years, last season. The Old Liners will open on Oct. 23 and meet for the first time the powerful Penn State aggregation at State College. They'll play a five match home schedule bringing such aggregations as Temple, Virginia, West Chester State Teachers (Pa.), John Hopkins and Western Maryland to their home ballpark.

The 1948 soccer schedule is as follows: Oct. 23—Penn State, away; Oct. 26—West Chester State Teachers, home; Oct. 29—Loyola, away; Nov. 4—W & L, away; Nov. 6—Temple, home; Nov. 12—Gettysburg, away; Nov. 17—Virginia, home; Nov. 19—W. Md., home; Nov. 20—John Hopkins, home; Nov. 23—Salisbury State Teachers, away.

Detroit Routs Bob Feller, 7-1

By JOE REICHLER

CLEVELAND, Oct. 3 (AP)—Cleveland's pennant-hungry Indians lost their opportunity to clinch the American League pennant today by taking a 7 to 1 beating from the Detroit Tigers, while Boston "led" up the race with a victory over the New York Yankees.

The deadlock forced a one-game playoff for the flag. The contest will be played in Boston tomorrow, starting at 1:30 p.m. (EST), the first in the league's history.

Lefty Hal Newhouser handcuffed the Tribe with five hits, while the Red Sox, who were two games off the pace only three days ago, were taking over the Yanks in Bos-didn't linger long as the Tiger belted him out with a four-run spurring with one out in the third inning.

It simply was not Feller's day today. His Sunday pitch—his fast ball—wasn't so good today as the temperature hovered around 60. The Tigers teed off on his fast one right from the start, and when the Bengals got to him for a pair of doubles, a single and two bases on balls in the third, Boudreau waved him to the showers, and called in Sam Zoldak.

That started the parade of five Cleveland flingers, including a couple who just came up from the minor leagues. The Tigers rapped Steve Gromek, third Indian hurler, for two more runs in the fourth on two more doubles and a single to provide Newhouse with a 6 to 0 edge.

Meanwhile Newhouse rolled on to his 21st win of the season, and his second in nine starts against Peller. He was never in trouble and had a shutout until two were out in the ninth when Joe Gordon singled to send home Alie Clark from second. Until the ninth when Clark and Gordon singled. Newhouse had a brilliant three-hitter. Newhouse allowed only seven runners to reach base and Clark was the only one to go beyond second. Ken Keltner walked in the second, but was cut down stealing. Eddie Robinson singled to open the third, but was wiped out in a third play. Woodruff walked in the fourth, but got no further. Newhouse retired seven men in a row before Clark beat out an infield single with one out in the

BUFFALO, Oct. 3 (INS)—The Buffalo Bills and the Brooklyn Dodgers of the All America Football Conference put on a real donkey-hug today before 18,000 customers with the Bills winning, 31 to 14.

The game was played in a 45-degree temperature and with a 20-mph wind prevailing.

The Bills, meeting Eastern Conference opposition for the first time this season, took charge of the game in the first period with a field goal by Bob Steuber and were never headed.

They added two touchdowns in the second period and at the half led the Dodgers by a 17-0 count.

George Ratterman was out his assing game and outshone the able Bob Chappuis of Michigan, who quarterbacked the losers. Chappuis left the game in the last half when he was shaken by tacklers on running plays. He was replaced by punchy Hoernschemeyer, who played a whale of a game on both offense and defense.

Radio Programs Shifting To New Spots, Networks

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, Oct. 3—More fall program developments are due on Monday. One of them is a new Gordon MacRae show, to run 45 minutes on ABC at 8 p.m. in which musical comedy and light opera productions will be condensed into radio versions.

The opening will be "Good News," and Dinah Shore and Jane Powell to help out as guests.

Also on ABC, Kay Kyser comes back on the air, not only changing networks from NBC, but taking on a daytime series, 30 minutes five times a week. He will be at 11 a. m., the former Breakfast in Hollywood time, which is being moved to 2 p.m.

The Bob Hawk quiz, which spent a season on NBC, is being moved back to its former CBS time. That will be 10:30 p.m.

Another community chest program, this one for ABC at 9, is titled "The Waking Giant," and will have as talent Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Bob Hope and others.

The third in the MBS series on "The Atom and You" at 9:30 will be in the form of a forum in which five high school students are to participate.

Political broadcasts announced for Monday are: CBS 8 Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan.

NBC 10:30 Henry A. Wallace continuing his weekly series.

Sir Stafford Cripps, British chancellor of the exchequer, is to be interviewed by Edward Morrow on CBS at 7:45. Fritz Kreisler again is the violin guest of the Don Voorhees concert on NBC at 9.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"You might call it my vacation. The boss has gone away for six weeks."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Mean Widdle Kid

Red Skelton, who possesses great tenacity of purpose, has been back on the air for several weeks now but I've only this moment summoned up enough energy to grapple with him again. He is dealing pretty much in the same line of goods he dealt in last year, the year before and so on back to the days he was at the Paramount, and we may as well examine the merchandise in order.

John Crosby

"I've been to Washington," he announced to get the proceedings under way.

"Did you have a suite?"

"No. I took my wife with me. I said to one guy: 'What do you think of the Taft-Hartley bill?' He said: 'I think we should pay it.' I saw Dewey at the White House. He was writing a postcard—'Wish I were here.' Did you know that 50 per cent of the doctors who switched to Camels are back to driving cars again?"

Mr. Skelton can prattle along like that almost indefinitely, spitting out unrelated jokes with an air of such vigorous good humor that, I'm forced to admit, he carries a large part of his audience along with him by sheer determination. It's a gift not to be taken lightly. After about five minutes of this, a pretty good quartet known as the Four Knights give Mr. S. a chance to catch his breath; then he's right back in the line-up playing Clem Caddiehopper—I'm spelling that by ear—a rustic oaf who seems patterned after Mortimer Snerd. In fact, Caddiehopper's reactions to normal stimuli are, if anything, even slower than Snerd's.

"Just registered for the draft again. They didn't know how to classify me—dead or alive." (There's an R in this month, which means the 4-F joke is in season again.)

After being bludgeoned almost to death by the more human characters as Caddiehopper, Skelton is sent to his corner for a minute or so which is filled in by Dave Rose's orchestra, and a very pleasant interlude too, but he's back again for the third round as the Mean Widdle Kid, the most obnoxious widdle brat in all literature if this can be described as literature. "Don't you hit me. You hit me and I'll tell papa I was twins and you'll have a terrible time explaining what you did with the other one."

Well, that's it, folks, until next week at this same time over this same station when Skelton will do it all over again. One thing I can say for Skelton—he gives you the large economy-size package. Since Bob Hope has slowed to a walk, Skelton clearly leads the field for the sheer quantity of material burned up in half an hour. He works terribly, terribly hard and much of his stuff has a ring of authenticity and originality which I think I'd enjoy if it didn't whistle past my ears at such speed. Skelton, I guess, is a special taste which somehow eludes me though he has many, many admirers. Incidentally the Skelton show, which used to follow Bob Hope's, has been switched to 9:30 p. m. E.S.T. Fridays, still on N.B.C.

I've always felt that critics should resist the temptation to get on the other side of the footlights and this feeling was immeasurably strengthened the other night when four sincere and earnest critics—John Mason Brown, of the "Saturday Review of Literature," Howard Barnes, of the "New York Herald Tribune," Bosley Crowther, of "The New York Times" and Richard Watts, of "The New York Post"—exposed themselves to a television audience in New York to discuss Laurence Olivier's motion picture, "Hamlet." For one critic to criticize the efforts of other critics is, I admit, a form of cannibalism but, if this sort of thing continues, I don't see how it can be avoided.

Having listened to a lot of it and having even attempted it on occasions, I'm forced to conclude that ad lib criticism from men who are essentially writers, not ad libbers, doesn't contribute much to the wisdom of nations or the prestige of criticism. This applies with particular force to the criticism of such a difficult subject as Shakespeare and especially "Hamlet."

Sure, He that gave us such large discourse—Mr. Brown, Mr. Barnes,

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Mr. Corwther and Mr. Watts—gave us not that capability and Godlike reason in order to light cigarettes nervously in front of a television camera, to speak things in doubt that carry but half sense, to both the words so that the whole critical profession lays itself open to the carping censure of the world.

Teachers To Attend Speech Seminar

Five Allegany County teachers will attend the first class of a speech correction seminar being held today at the Board of Education offices. The classes will be under the direction of Dr. Merle Ansberry, speech pathologist of the University of Maryland. He is one of the foremost speech pathologists in the country.

The class is the first step in a state-wide program that will be broadened until every pupil needing such aid will be able to get it. A speech clinic was opened here last year by the Allegany League for Crippled Children to overcome impediments of speech.

The teachers who will attend today's class are Miss Helen Smith, Fort Hill, who has had previous instruction in the work; Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, Allegany High; Miss Anna E. McLuckie, Beall High, Frostburg; Miss Margaret Thomas, Bruce High; Westernport, and Miss Margaret Ringler, Cresaptown.

Drive-In Theatre Plans Benefit Show For League

Tickets are now available at headquarters of Allegany County League for Crippled Children for a benefit show on behalf of the league, to be held Thursday night at the Potomac Drive-In Theatre, Winchester Road.

Kenneth Baker, operator of the Drive-In, has donated the entire proceeds of the evening to the League. There will be two shows and a program of other entertainment. The feature picture for the evening will be "Under Cover Maisie."

To toast commercially shredded coconut, spread a thin layer in a porcelain enameled or aluminum utility tray. Bake a light brown in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.). Stir occasionally with a fork so that the coconut will brown evenly. Makes a tasty garnish for salads, puddings, cakes, pies, etc.

SUSIE Q. SMITH

By Linda and Jerry Walker

"Owlie's father refuses to argue politics with him . . . but I knew you would be glad to, Popsie."

An artificial flower and a set of itchy fingers were once worth a million dollars to David Belasco.

Here's the how-come.

In 1926, the talented gent with the fore-and-collar produced a play called "Lulu Belle." It was written by Charles MacArthur in collaboration with the late Edward Sheldon, and it starred a memorable hunk of woman named Lenore Ulric. As I remember the show, it was a little south of Shakespeare but it had a salable commodity known to the trade as "Sex."

Soon after "Lulu Belle" opened, several Societies for the Suppression of Practically Everything began throwing rusty harpoons at it and demanding the city fathers to close it up. One prominent member of the puce proboscis set—a yahoo I will misname B. Sidney Walton—took the lead in this badgering and, seeing as how votes are votes, it looked like a quick curtain for "Lulu."

And now for the flower and itchy finger episode. Scene: The counter of a Brooklyn department store. Time: About 48 hours before B. Sidney Walton was to present the Mayor with a boxful of petitions insisting the MacArthur-Sheldon opus be banned.

Around noon that day, a dignified biddy edged up to the flower counter, inspected a purple-cloth poppy and decided she wanted it badly—but not badly enough to pay for it. As she was easing it into her handbag, a store detective introduced himself and suggested a conference in the manager's office.

This pow-wow was a brief one. The manager agreed not to prosecute if the matron would sign a confession and submit to fingerprinting. The store, he explained, had adopted this system to avoid being sued for false arrest, and her confession would only be used if she were caught stealing a second time. The rich klepto signed with all 10 digits and swished out of the store.

Now, it so happened that the manager's secretary, who had been present during the interview, was keeping company with a Brooklyn newspaper reporter named Charlie Samuels, and over a bowl of chop suey that night, she told him about the affaire flower. "Seems I've heard the shoplifter's name before," she said. "It's Mrs. B. Sidney Walton."

"Thanks for a front-page story," said the reporter as he got up and started for a phone booth.

His girl grabbed him. "You can't print that," she said. "It would mean my job. The boss knows I go around with you, and that nobody else could have tipped you off."

Charlie muttered something about the freedom of the press, but he went back to his chop suey. And that would have been that if he hadn't run into Ben Hecht next day and spilled the yarn.

"Call Charlie MacArthur," said Ben, "and tell him exactly what you told me."

"What's the idea?" asked Samuels.

"Never mind," said Hecht. "Just call him."

"Good yarn," said the playwright. "Too bad you can't use it." But a moment later MacArthur was thumbing through the W's in the phone directory.

B. Sidney himself answered the phone. "I'm writing a piece about kleptomaniacs for The New Yorker," MacArthur explained, "and I'd like to get your opinion of the lead paragraph."

"I'd be delighted to help," said sapphire schnozzle. "Go right ahead."

"It has to do with your wife," said MacArthur pleasantly, "and her depressing experience the other day when she was picked up for shoplifting. I understand she signed a confession and was fingerprinted."

There was a sound like a far-away escape of steam, and then the self-appointed censor said, "Who did you say was calling?"

"Charles MacArthur," said the playwright. "Perhaps you recognize the name—I'm co-author of a play called 'Lulu Belle.'"

After a nice moment of nothing, Walton said, "Perhaps I misjudged your play, Mr. MacArthur. I've been thinking the matter over, and it seems to me that 'Lulu Belle' has certain educational qualities which escaped me the first time I saw it."

MIRROR Of Your MIND
By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Should children have first places in their mother's affections?
Answer: No—because of the effect on them, if for no other reason. An emotionally mature woman needs a kind of companionship which children cannot give her and if she attempts to make them take the place in her life which only a beloved partner of her own age can fill, she not only "overstimulates" their natural feelings but many times to her with ties that prove too strong to be loosened when they grow up. Finally, she gives them an impression of what marriage is that will make their married lives unhappy.

is demanded of us. The hallucinations of psychotics are created by the same unconscious mechanisms as dreams, but cannot be "dispelled" because the capacity to "test" them by comparison with the external world has been lost.

Does "propaganda" influence a person's musical taste?
Answer: Yes, says Dr. Melvin G. Riggs of Oklahoma A. and M. College. He reports experiments in which students reacted with much greater pleasure to the same musical compositions when these were presented to them as expressions of romantic feeling than when they were spoken of as favorites of the Nazis. All taste is largely a matter of "associations," so that if you want to make someone like the things that you like, you must make sure to present them to him in ways that will predispose him in their favor.

CUNNINGHAM SERVICE
MIDLAND—A requiem mass for Hugh Cunningham, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cunningham, Main Street, who died Friday at his home of rheumatic fever, will be celebrated today at 9 a. m. in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, by Rev. W. M. McVeigh, pastor. Burial will be in St. Michael's Cemetery, Frostburg.

MRS. EMMA O. MILLER
SILVER SPRINGS STATION, Pa.—Mrs. Emma Oster Miller, 62, wife of John Calvin Miller, died suddenly yesterday of a heart condition at her home here.

Mrs. Miller was born May 8, 1886 in Bear's Cove, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oster. She was a member of Madley Lutheran Church.

A funeral service will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Zeigler Funeral Home, Hyndman, with Rev. Frank Herbel, pastor of the Madley Church, officiating. Burial will be in Madley Cemetery.

Voting Machine Referendums To Be On Ballots

Citizens To Act On Disputed Issue

Allegheny County citizens will have an opportunity to act upon two Maryland laws relating to the use of voting machines in this county and to vote upon a suggested amendment to the Maryland Constitution as well as select a president, vice president and congressman in the November 2 general election.

The local issues are contained in chapters 669 and 675 of the Acts of the General Assembly of 1947 subject to a referendum of Allegheny County voters in the coming election.

The first bill, contained in Chapter 669 of the code, directed the Board of Allegheny County Commissioners to borrow $140,000 for the purchase of voting machines in this county.

The second, in Chapter 675, provided for the use of voting machines in this county in the primary and general elections of 1948 and thereafter.

These laws, however, did not go into effect on June 1, 1947, since the Board of Allegheny County Commissioners and interested citizens circulated petitions for a referendum on the laws. Enough names were secured on the petitions to authorize the holding of the referendum.

Informal sources pointed out that voters must approve both of the amendments in order to secure voting machines here. If approved, the laws will make mandatory the immediate purchase and financing of the machines.

The action of Allegheny voters on these issues will undoubtedly have a great effect on proposals of the Legislative Council to make the use of voting machines mandatory throughout the state, observers believe.

Insurance Plan Came After Two Years Of Study

Program Designed To Aid Parents

Decision to introduce medical expense accident insurance into Maryland public schools came only after a special committee had studied the needs and possibilities of such a program for more than two years, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, said yesterday.

The idea was originally proposed at a State Athletic Association meeting in Baltimore, when plans were being considered to insure athletes only.

Kopp said the present program is designed to aid parents of school children at a time when they are frequently taxed to the utmost financially in trying to provide their children with an education.

During its two-year study the committee, composed of State Department of Education personnel, learned that about every hour in the day, a school student is injured by accident somewhere in the United States.

Because of this, the new program was devised to give public school students, from elementary through high school grades, the opportunity to become insured at a minimum cost of $3 for a 10-month period.

Each policy will cover medical expenses up to $250 per accident for each insured student if injured while engaged in public school activities.

Kopp said it is estimated that accidental personal injuries cost the average American family about $140 a year.

Legion Band Seeks 10 Veteran Musicians

Port Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion Band, will rehearse tonight at 8 o'clock at the Post home, and any veterans interested in joining the band will be welcome, according to Russell C. Pape, post adjutant.

Pape said the band is making excellent progress and it is hoped to complete an organization of 50 or more pieces. The Legion, Pape explained, realizes that each year both local public high schools graduate a number of musicians, and the Legion band will eventually be thrown open to admit those students who will continue in a march and concert musical unit.

At present, however, the organization is seeking about 10 veterans with musical experience.

Business Manager Of Alcoholic Mirror Named

Miss Ruth Hersh will head the business staff of the Allegheny High School publication, Alcoholic Mirror, Miss Mary Murray, advisor, announced.

Jack Mansfield has been appointed advertising manager, Miss Della Fulton, circulation manager, Miss Edith Sweeney, exchange editor, and Miss Marcia Hilton, alumni editor.

Business associates include Ray Klime, Miss Shirley Heck, John Dauguid, Miss Ruth Rahn, Miss Doris Hardin, Miss Martha Clauson, Miss Sandra Schindler, Miss Charlotte Gardner and Robert Hutchison. All members of the business staff, including Miss Hersh, are seniors enrolled in the journalism class.

The Weather

Yesterday's cool and cloudy sky turned clear but cool last night. The maximum temperature in the 24 hour period before 5:30 p. m. was 68 degrees and the low was 55. Late last night the thermometer showed 46 which made looking at the cleared-up sky not worth the trouble. Today still should be cool and fair and probably a little zippy.

Advance Gifts Group Plans Kickoff Event

Approximately 40 persons are expected to attend the "kickoff" luncheon of the advance gifts committee of the 1948-49 Cumberland Community Chest campaign, to be held tomorrow at noon at Central YMCA.

Clarence Lippel is chairman of the committee, which has an individual quota of $52,500. The committee will begin its work Wednesday.

The general campaign will be held October 20 to 28, with an overall goal of $84,000.24.

Public Is Asked To Help Reduce Fire Loss Here

Most of the fires which snuffed out the life of more than 10,000 persons and caused property damage of $709,839,000 last year could have been prevented with ordinary caution, Fire Prevention Week officials reported last night.

Matches and smoking they said, accounted for 29.26 of the fires and the misuse of electricity another 19.38.

Officials for the drive to reduce fire losses here appealed to Cumberland residents to make a thorough examination of the heating system in their homes to make sure that furnaces and flues are in good condition and surrounded by proper insulation. Defective heating plants, they added, cause 13.9 of our fire losses.

Other causes of fires, as listed by the National Board of Fire Underwriters include:

Per cent: originating off premises 8; lighting 6.94; defective chimneys and flues 6.88; stoves, furnaces and pipes 6.31; petroleum and its products 6.17; sparks on roofs 5.74; open lights 5.41.

Hot ashes, coals and open fires 4.63; ignition of hot grease 3.06; spontaneous ignition 1.83; gas, natural and artificial 1.41; sparks from combustion 1; rubbish and litter 93; explosions .81; miscellaneous .81; friction and sparks from running machinery .76, and fireworks and balloons .27.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, which with the Junior Association of Commerce, the Cumberland Fire Department and Volunteer Firemen of this county are sponsoring the Fire Prevention efforts, pointed out that publicity and contests are of little use unless every citizen makes some effort to protect his own property from the fire hazard.

James B. Reinhardt is general chairman and Thomas F. Conlon, co-chairman for the Fire Prevention week campaign which opens Sunday.

Automobile Hits Robert Bosely

Robert Bosely, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bosely, 314 Grand Avenue, was treated last night at 8-25 o'clock for brush burns received when he hit by an automobile while riding a motorcycle on Hubbard Street.

Attaches of the hospital identified the driver of the car as Robert Small, 706 Lafayette Street. The Cumberland Police Department said the Officer J. C. Stouffer and James Brown were investigating the accident.

Eleven-year-old Ernest Goebel who was admitted to Memorial Hospital Saturday at 12:30 p. m. for treatment of injuries to the skull and left leg received when he was hit by an automobile in front of Melody Manor Tavern, Barreillesville, was reported "very much improved."

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goebel, Mt. Savage, was X-rayed and no evidences of fracture was found according to authorities.

Michael Mackert, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Mackert, 829 Columbia Avenue, was treated Saturday at 5:30 p. m. at Memorial Hospital for injuries to the right foot. Attaches said the boy fell while playing on the sliding board at North End Playground.

GETTING THE POINT-- Dr. C. N. Foote, Jr., local veterinarian demonstrates the proper stance for showing dogs at a rehearsal Saturday at the Girl Scout House for the "Canine Pet Show" to be held next Saturday under the sponsorship of the Cumberland Girl Scouts. In addition to actual showing technique, Dr. Foote also taught the owners of the 19 entries who participated in the rehearsal the proper grooming and preparation of the dogs and to walk them on the leash before the judges. Entry blanks for the show may be secured until 5 p. m. Friday. Mrs. Robert C. Armstrong is chairman of the arrangements committee and Henry C. Swearingen will present the prizes. Left to right in the background are Rosemary Hill, Peggy Spijoch, Judy Minke, Phillip McGinn, Ann Adams and Margaret Herstine. That the show is not limited to Girl Scouts is shown by the fact that Dr. Foote is using young McGinn's dog for his demonstration. Entries may be with or without pedigrees.

Woman Is Found In Gas Filled Apartment Here To Be Questioned By Police Today

City Police reported last night they had summoned a 28-year-old local woman to appear this morning at police headquarters for questioning in connection with what they termed an "attempted suicide" in a North Centre Street apartment early last night.

Police said they received a call at 6:55 p. m. to come to the apartment on the third floor of 154 North Centre Street. They said that when they arrived on the scene the victim, whom they identified as Mrs. James Wright, 28, 6 Thomas Street, was being revived by her former husband, James H. Wright.

Authorities said they were informed the woman went to the apartment of her former husband while he was at work and turned on the gas in stoves in the kitchen and bedroom.

Wright, they reported, received a call while at work and rushed home, broke in the door and found his former mate lying on the floor of the bedroom.

The man, they said, shut off the gas, threw open the windows and had revived the woman by using artificial respiration when they arrived.

Officers John G. Powers, Louis Downey, J. C. Stouffer and James Brown investigated for city police.

"Nip's" Return Brings Happiness Back To Tommy And Pat Skipper

Dog Is Located At Mdlenry, Md.

All is well in the Skipper home in Garrett County. "Nip" is back home.

"Nip's" return has brought happiness to everyone in the family, including the little brown and white dog which was the pride and joy of his little masters, Tommy and Pat Skipper.

"Words can't express our appreciation to you for writing the article in your paper about Tommy and Pat's dog, for Nip is back home," Mrs. Leo Skipper declared in a letter to the Cumberland News.

"There is a happy dog and two happy boys in our home today," she related in reporting the joy of the whole family at "Nip's" return. "Nip" is a little brown and white dog, which was the pride and joy of his little masters, Tommy and Pat Skipper.

"Nip" disappeared several weeks ago after the lads chased him back about 10 miles away, and found "Nip" Mrs. Gloferty said he wouldn't eat and whined and seemed to be looking for someone.

"Again we want to thank you and we will always have a warm place in our heart for your paper," she concluded.

Tommy and Pat appealed for help after the tragedy of "Nip's" disappearance and asked that a search be instituted for their beloved pet.

State DAV Heads To Visit Local Unit Wednesday

Membership Drive To Be Inaugurated

State officers of the Disabled American Veterans will visit Washington Chapter No. 2, DAV, at their home, South Centre Street, Wednesday to inaugurate a membership campaign, according to John E. Hoffman, chapter commander.

State Commander James T. Aubrey, Sr., Takoma Park, East State Commander John A. Deterly, Jr., Baltimore Chapter No. 1, and Samuel Weston, commander of the Sixth District and a member of the Frederick Chapter, are expected along with two or three other state officers, Hoffman said.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. and all disabled veterans are urged to attend. Talks will be given on the purpose of the DAV, and non-members will receive first-hand information about the program and benefits of the organization.

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the local chapter and Frostrub Chapter No. 9 have also been invited, along with DAV members of neighboring areas.

Hoffman said a buffet luncheon will be served by the entertainment committee, headed by Charles Crawford.

A program of repainting and redecorating the home inside and out is underway, Hoffman said, and will be completed shortly.

Motorcycle Occupants Are Injured In Crash

Two sailors were treated in a Bedford hospital early last night for injuries suffered when the motorcycle on which they were riding was struck by a car on the Pennsylvania Turnpike 13 miles west of Bedford.

State Police said Boyd McComb, Washington, Pa., driver of the motorcycle, was treated for a fractured left wrist and abrasions on the knee and ankle and his companion, Francis Alderman, West Suffield, Conn., for abrasions on the face, hands and knees.

Police said a car driven by Valentine Deale, Cleveland, Ohio, crashed against the rear of the eastbound motorcycle.

Seven States To Vote On Bonuses For World War II Vets Next Month

Seven states will vote on veterans' bonuses in next month's elections, with proposed payments ranging up to a maximum of $650.

However, no action can be taken on a state bonus in Maryland until the next session of the General Assembly in January. A bill was introduced at the extraordinary session in 1946 but died in committee.

The states which will vote are Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

World War II bonuses have already been authorized by nine states, the territories of Alaska and Hawaii. The largest bonus payment provided for in the proposed legislation will be voted on by the citizens of South Dakota. If approved, a veteran in that state may receive as much as $650.

The highest bonus already authorized is in Illinois, where payments up to $900 are now being made.

The states in which bonus payments have been authorized are Connecticut, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, Ohio, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island and Vermont.

Bonus legislation has been introduced but no action taken in nine states and the District of Columbia. Maryland and West Virginia are among the 17 states in which bonus legislation has been defeated. No bonus legislation has been introduced in five states, and Maine's voters rejected a bonus at the last general election.

On September 10 Maryland American Legion members voted to demand a state bonus up to $500 for World War II veterans. The proposed legislation would grant to eligible veterans payments of $10 for each month of domestic service and $15 for each month of foreign service between September 16, 1945 and September 2, 1945. The maximum payment would be $500.

The Legion is not the only veterans' group to ask bonus legislation, although it is the first organized effort to make an important issue of the subject. Various other veterans' groups have urged passage of similar legislation.

A recent Veterans Administration survey shows that every state has some type of benefits for veterans besides any help they may receive from the Federal government.

Maryland is among the 46 states which protect the veteran from loss of unemployment compensation benefits while in service. All states, including Maryland, provide for the guardianship of veterans who are mentally incompetent.

Maryland is among the 46 states which cancel payments ordinarily required for certain job licenses. West Virginia has no such provision for veterans.

Forty-four states, Maryland included, give preference to veterans for employment in public works, state civil service jobs, or examinations or appointments based on the (Continued from Page 9, Col. 4)

Mass To Be Offered For St. Francis

SS. Peter and Paul Church will celebrate the feast of St. Francis, founder of the Franciscan Order, at a solemn high Mass to be held this morning at 9 o'clock.

Students of the parish school will have a holiday but all are expected to attend the service honoring St. Francis, who was born in Assisi in 1182. Tomorrow will be observed as Poor Souls Day for members of the Franciscan Order.

Amendment Will Bar Communists From State Posts

Legion Urges Full Vote In November

Maryland voters will be given an opportunity in the November 2 election to vote on an amendment to the Maryland constitution which would bar from office in this state members of any organization that advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States by force or violence.

Russell C. Pape, adjutant of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, pointed out to voters that the following amendment will appear on the November ballot in Maryland:

"No person who is a member of an organization that advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States or of the State of Maryland through force or violence, shall be eligible to hold any office, be it elective or appointive, or any other position of profit or trust in the government of or in the administration of the business of this state or of any county, municipality or other political subdivision of the State."

Legion Backs Move

This amendment, the Legion pointed out, is the result of a resolution presented at the last session of the General Assembly of Maryland by the then Department Legislative Committee headed by William H. McGrath, of My Maryland Post No. 126, American Legion.

Legion officials are urging that all members of the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary units put forth every effort by solicitation of their immediate families, neighbors and friends to get out the vote for this amendment on November 2.

Although the amendment does not mention the Communist party by name, Legionnaires said it is a direct effort to banish from public office members of that party under direct control of the Communist party of the USSR.

Maryland Legionnaires are urged to stand solidly back of National Commander James F. O'Neill's appeal for a united American Legion to get out the vote in the National election.

Asks Heavy Vote

The Legion goal, Pape said, is to get out the largest number of votes cast so far in Maryland and the nation's history. The objective is two fold: first, to make sure, through the great principle of free Americans, that the will of the majority prevails in government; and second, to demonstrate again to the world that citizens of a free nation willingly help to govern themselves.

Department Commander John D. Carman has emphasized that the Legion is not undertaking to tell the people how to vote but seeks only to see that the maximum number of qualified citizens go to the polls.

ORC Schedules Two October Meetings

Two October meetings of the 208th Organized Reserve Corps Composite Group have been planned, according to Capt. Thomas Stafford, unit adjutant.

Col. J. Leo Delaney, commandant of the group, will discuss "The Mission of the Infantry" at the first meeting Thursday, October 7 at 8 p. m. in the City Hall Auditorium. Also on that program will be a talk on "The Organization of the Infantry" by Major Hugh D. Shiner, plans and training officer of the 23rd Infantry Battalion of the unit.

"The Infantry in the Attack" and "The Infantry in the Defense" will be on the agenda for the second meeting October 21 at 8 p. m. in the Auditorium.

Members of the Western Maryland Reserve Officer's Association will meet with the 208th ORC October 7, Col. Justin D. Paddelford, president, has announced.
